Is there anything I need to be aware of for the meeting tonight?

No idea

Are you voting in the new statement?

On

I think wall will oppose it.

Even with the

Even with the changes?

Dozen or so right wingers coming to bash me tonight on being woke and critical race theory

Omg, so they not understand that this has nothing to do with CRT?

I think the rest of the board is ok with it. If they even read the edits. I am fine with it.

They believe this will lead down that road. Etc.

Are you still in Cali

Let me send you an article

Did you sign up to speak

No I'm back and they line, but having these discussions on CRT is not productive because no public schools are actually using it or trying to instill it. It's a completely political move to disenfranchise ppl from having important conversations about race and history. CRT is not a movement or a curriculum.

That said, I've pasted an article about it that, if you want, can share

Read that article

And share.

Well I have always said that and I have maintained CRT is what we are doing here.

I am trying to get To the vote as quickly as possible. I don't believe in transparency or public discussion.

It isnt CRT. This equity statement isn't iust or public discussion.

It isn't CRT. This equity statement isn't just about race. It's about equity and that includes ethnicity, gender, disability, poverty, mental health, giftedness etc.

But it seems you have a handle on the situation. I'll see u there.
